ONLY A LAUGH.

Only a laugh, but the joy of the hours in it, Drooping so blithely from out of the gloom, Down from the easement that has the red flowers in it, Flooding with sunshine my poor little room.

Only a laugh, but I know well whose choice it is; Oh, I can guess whose the lips that can chaff, Whose is the smiling mouth, whose bubbling voice it is, Putting such perfume in only a laugh!

Only a laugh! My lone life is so shadowy, Tinged with the darkness that solitude grows, Most of the brightness missed, most of its glad away, Most of its tenderness chilled by the snow.

Only a laugh, but so much of the gay in it! Oh, were there love 'twould be sweeter by half! I could forget that my hair has its gray in it Were it for me more than—only a laugh! —New York Press.

WHERE PRICES ARE STEADY.

The Mountain Dealer Objected to a Fall For Religious Reasons.

"That reminds me indirectly," said the other drummer, "of a yarn I heard lately over in South Carolina told at the expense of a peculiarly gulleless old chap who keeps a little crossroads store up in the mountains. Everybody wears boots in that part of the country, and, as the story goes, the old fellow had been buying his stock for many years of a manufacturer in a big city not 1,000 miles away. He paid $6 a pair for his boots when he first went into business, and the maker had continued charging him the same figure year after year regardless of the fact that the market price had been steadily going down. The old storekeeper, secluded from the world in his mountain home, never dreamed that he was being fleeced and took pride in paying his bills with clockwork punctuality.

"At last, when that grade of boots was quoted at $2.50, the manufacturer's conscience smote him, and he decided to make amends. So he wrote the country merchant, saying that there had been a considerable decrease in the price of leather, and he was glad to state that he would be able to let him have the last lot of boots he ordered at $4 a pair. This, he added, was a special low rate, made on account of personal esteem and the fact that he had been a regular customer for such a long period. A few days afterward the conscientious manufacturer was amazed to receive a letter running something like this:

"Dear Sir—It's mighty kind of you all to offer to let me have them boots at $4, but I wish you would please keep the price the same as what it was before. I have been selling them boots for $10 a pair for 12 years, and, being a deacon in the church, I don't think it would be right to take no stronger profit. So no more at present from yours truly, PRIZE DR."

The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine; and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness and all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs are surely cured by it. Call on S. J. Hodgkinson, Druggist, and get a trial bottle. Regular size, 50 cents and $1. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have new lease on life." Only 50 cents at S. J. HANNA IS SUPREME IN CONVENTION

Be careful, Mark; there is a hereafter that may fill the future with trouble you know not of while you dictate terms to the representatives of the Republican party in convention assembled. The talisman that gave enthusiasm and the fountain that poured oil to prevent friction in the ranks of the Republican party are not present now, as they were in the times when mention of Lincoln's name, or reference to the surrender of Lee, would set a Republican convention wild with enthusiasm. The disinterestedness of a patriotic multitude whose high aspirations were to secure a united country and the rights of man, are not in the convention hall at Philadelphia. The fire no more burns upon the altar of country in a Republican political body, which caused perfume sweet to the senses to fill all space dedicated and made sacred to the rights of the slave and the oppressed of all conditions and races.

The ashes and dregs of a burned out patriotism in the Republican party is all there is remaining to call to mind a once powerful party that represented the highest and best principles included in the elevation of mankind. Look well, Mark, to your political laurels and to the future of the party you and others of your kind have succeeded in debasing by using it for vile purposes, among which is the elevation of money above man, which includes slavery to mankind. Imperialism and its corroding methods flowing from its blighting presence are to be seen in a national Republican assemblage, because they are plainly visible to all who are present, where freedom, love of country, and devotion to principles included in these once reigned supreme.

Your attention, Mark, is directed to a change there is in the ranks of the Republican party. Those who do the voicing are no more the proud and defiant men in the right they were thirty years ago and less; they act in a brow-beaten manner politically and seek cover. They are no more seen or heard in the highways, in the churches, in the Sunday schools, or in the public schools, to declare to the faithful or to the young the blessings there are to the people in a free and glorious republic. The cause of the change there is in these men can be found in the change that has come over the Republican party. These men are not ashamed of themselves, but they are ashamed of you and your sort, who are dictating the policy and running the party. They are well aware that you and your kind have made the party of freedom and high ideals a party of bosses, frauds and lies, and that your purpose and object is to enslave the people by making them bow down to trusts and a vulgar monied aristocracy, while the chains that bind give discordant sounds to ears which were tuned and accustomed to soul inspiring songs declaring and praising freedom.

There is not less than a score of millionaires at the convention who represent not less than one hundred and thirty millions in value whose presence makes a very decisive showing in outline of the influence that commands in the Republican party, and leads it wheresoever it wills it should go, to do the work it provides, which is to procure more money from the honest and tolling millions there are upon earth. There is in the work mentioned an explanation more conclusive in its nature of the cause there is present for the absence of any good feeling, or hope for a change to more honest methods through a change in the leadership that might tend to make the position of the party before the honest people in the country more tolerable to the honest men there are in it. There will be no change either in leadership or in the methods of the party.

Slavery and money are the leading facts presented that are everpresent in all it does and intends to do, which gives it before the people its true position. Its work will be in exact line with the position it occupies, which is and will continue to be to enslave and oppress the people in the interest of the millions represented in the convention.

The capital that is invested in trusts is largely represented, which will be engaged before the close of the convention in passing resolutions against itself, that will receive the name of anti trust plank which will include the most bare-faced fraud of any of the fraudulent planks there will be in the platform. Hanna is so fully persegued of the blindness of the Republican party to anything there may be done

In convention that he is of the opinion that the party is not ashamed of him. The conscience of the party is dead and there is not anything that will disturb it in its death sleep, but there are people who have been and continue to be Republicans in sentiment and in fact who have conscience. These people Mark Hanna will not deceive, as they are intelligent people who feel the weight there is upon them through the work of Hanna and the work of those who are in league with him. These people Hanna should fear because they have conscience that will move to action that will be in opposition to injustice and in opposition to fraud and to all of its wrongs. Hanna has cause to fear these people who will be the means in the near future or the clouds that appear in the distance are more deceitful than Hanna of making a change that he will heed. The change may relieve honest men and a trust-ridden people of the presence of Hanna in national Republican conventions to the relief of decency, good morals and all that is worth living for in the hope of a better life in the future.

What Foster Prognosticates.

(Copyright, 1900, by W. T. Foster.)
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 23.—About the date of this bulletin a high or warm wave will be in the great central valleys, moving slowly eastward and a cool wave will then be in the Rockies of the northwest. The temperature of the week ending 8 A. M. July 2, will average below and the rainfall will be about normal east of the Rockies; below west. The crops are so far along that results can be fairly estimated from appearances, except corn, which yet must take the risk of running the gauntlet of a July and August drought. My long ago prediction that a fair crop of spring wheat would be produced in northwest sections of the great central valleys now appears to have been well founded. Next bulletin will give general forecasts of July weather, the first of my calculations based on my recently greatly improved system. I invite the closest scrutiny of my work, beginning with the next bulletin.

Don't stay at home on Sunday, the 24th day of June, but hie you one and all to the race track and witness this big contest between Carson and Reno.

FROM VERDI
AND VICINITY

An Interesting Letter Concerning Matters Up the River.

Bold, Bad Soldiers.
Some forty or fifty soldiers spent a portion of last Saturday in our midst. They were enroute from the Jefferson barracks to Manila. The majority of them were quiet, gentlemanly fellows, yet there was two or three most disgraceful characters among them. These latter, after committing numerous petty offenses, appropriated a box of cigars, some liquor and a revolver from one of the saloons, and after imbibing freely became wild with a desire to become bold, bad men.
After much trouble one was strapped to a seat and a physician administered morphine to quiet him. Another, in possession of the revolver, attempted to use it upon a comrade, in which he failed, and received some little punishment in the struggle for the gun. The steward in charge intends reporting the matter to the proper authorities on arrival at the Presidio.
To Celebrate the Fourth.
To further demonstrate the fact that Verdi is neither dead nor dying, she will this year command the attention of those seeking a Fourth of July celebration, something before unheard of in the history of this village. Nevertheless, numerous committees of representative men and women are using every means to make the affair a grand success.
The first day's collecting shows over one hundred dollars, which is not bad for a place so small. It is proposed to have the literary exercises in the plaza. The usual parade and then a picnic, to include dancing, in Kane's grove near town. As long as Reno is not going to celebrate, her people will be welcome to enjoy the hospitality of the villagers on the west. The entire program will be given later.
Short Ones.
Gould & West are shipping some 900 cords of wood to the paper mill.
The Power Company's men have gone to the Virginia end of the line, which will be completed first.
Strawberries are coming in from the ranches near Verdi in quantities which demand the attention of the outside markets.
Men are in demand at the numerous camps along the river. They are, however, bound for the hayfields in different parts of Nevada.
The walls of the new store are completed. They are of stone and 22 inches thick. Workmen are busy placing the roof in position.
Prof. Kaye and Miss Dellaney are busily engaged arranging for their exercises to be held in Lonkey's hall the last day of school, next Wednesday.

Cyanide Men in Demand.
Of late years the cyanide leaching process has forged to the front where tailings occur in any quantity. Where flourishing mining camps have been located, or big mills in operation, tailings accumulate with rapidity, and it is surprising to find out how remunerative it is to work these tailings by the cyanide process.
Those who are versed in the methods and can take charge of a cyanide plant are much sought after now, and their salaries are a pleasing figure in the bargain.

NEVADA WELL

Sturdy Sons and Fair Daughters
in Far-Off South Africa.

Last night another young couple departed for the golden strands and kopjes of South Africa. They were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Durkee, and the good wishes and god-speed of many friends and relatives follow them in their long journey. Mrs. Durkee was Miss Addie Boyd, daughter of Dan Boyd, county treasurer. Both are graduates of the University, and leave behind a host of friends.
Sam Durkee, brother of Joe, will join this couple later on. His bride will accompany him, and Virginia City loses a fair native daughter thereby.
When all our Nevadans assemble in Boerland, the numbers will show up well—Ed. Hardach, Fred Bristol, Jack Bristol, J. M. L. Henry, Andy Hanson and Fritz Frey, all Nevada University graduates, and drawing down big salaries in responsible positions, which speaks well for Nevada's representatives.
Mrs. Fritz Frey (nee Gertrude McIntosh) may be claimed as a Nevada girl, having resided in Reno for a number of years, while it is whispered about that other brides are soon to swell the South African colony and lessen our own population.
Health, wealth and every blessing be with you in darkest Africa.

Prospectors continue to roam the hills, and locations are being made every day. There is not a rod of unclaimed land within miles of Wedekind's mine.
Farmers complain that the mining boom has detracted all the men from the meadows, and consequently when workmen are employed a substantial sum is demanded for a day's work.
It is reported that Wedekind has sold his wonderful mine. The price named is $100,000; ten per cent down, the rest in sixty days. This is a deal that reminds one of flash times in early days.

Smell Anything?
Stray microbes and floating germs got fatigued thoroughly last evening. The Reduction Works poured out volumes of smoke which settled over Reno in thick vapory clouds.
The odor resembled garlic, and everybody looked suspiciously at his or her neighbor and thought various unkind things about them.
But there wasn't a wholesale consumption of Dago onions—only a chance whiff from the smelter down the river.

COLT'S INVENTION.

The First Great Improvement Made in Repeating Pistols.
In this day of improved firearms the fact that the first great improvement made in repeating pistols by Colonel Samuel Colt was patented in the day of our grandfathers is seldom recalled. It was Colonel Colt, then of New York, to whom was granted the patent, Feb. 25, 1836. The original petition in the case was destroyed by the fire in December following. The letters patent were returned when application was made for the reissue, Sept. 1, 1848. The original letters are signed by Andrew Jackson, president; John Forsyth, secretary of state, and Benjamin F. Butler, attorney general.
After describing his invention Colonel Colt claims as new "the application of caps at the end of the cylinder, the application of a partition between the caps, the application of a shoulder over the caps as a security against moisture and the action of smoke upon the works of the locks, the principle of the connecting rod between the hammer and the trigger, the application of the shackle to connect the cylinder with the ratchet," etc.
There had been a revolver patented about 20 years before by one Collico, but until Colt's invention little headway was made. Indeed it was not until Colt's invention had been given a trial by Major Sam Walker and his Texas rangers that it gained popularity and was regarded as a success. About the time Colonel Colt was applying for a reissue, in 1848, Mr. Wesson had filed an application for a repeating firearm, by which the Smith & Wesson pistol of today is represented.—Washington Star.

The Magical Mirror.
An ordinary mirror of any size or shape, a piece of French chalk, pointed so that it can be used to write, and a silk handkerchief are the requisites. Draw upon the mirror, with the chalk, any design or words you choose. With the handkerchief wipe the glass lightly until it is perfectly clear and no writing or design is apparent. Having all this prepared beforehand, show to some one and request that he breathe gently on the face of the glass, when he will see—a picture of his future wife, for the design drawn will show very distinctly. This can again be wiped off, and if breathed upon the design will be again visible.

"What do you mean?"
"Why, he takes such good care of himself that he will live to be 100 and be famed for that."—Detroit Free Press

Heartless Man.
"Dear," said the dying man, "I don't want you to go into mourning for me when I am gone."
"Oh, George!" she sobbed. "Don't be so hard upon me."
"Hard? Why, love, I simply want you to be happy. You are young yet. Why should you deck yourself with widow's weeds?"
"It's mean of you, George! You know black is so becoming to me!"—Catholic Standard and Times.

It is easy to say, "Don't mind it," but we all do.—Atchafson Globe.

Remarkable Cure of Rheumatism.
KENNA, Jackson Co., W. Va.
About three years ago my wife had an attack of rheumatism which confined her to her bed for over a month and rendered her unable to walk a step without assistance, her limbs being swollen to double their normal size. Mr. S. Maddox insisted on my using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle and used it according to the directions and the next morning she walked to breakfast without assistance in any manner, and she has not had a similar attack since.—A. B. PARSONS. For sale by Wm. Pinniger.

In almost every neighborhood there is some one whose life has been saved by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, or who has been cured of chronic diarrhoea by the use of that medicine. Such persons make a point of telling of it whenever opportunity offers, hoping that it may be means of saving other lives. For sale by Wm. Pinniger.

Married the Day They Met.
Horace Greeley and Mary Young Cheney were married the first day they met. They had corresponded for some time, a common friend, who was something of a matchmaker, having brought this about. She was a very pretty girl, and her husband was disappointed in his appearance, so much so that when he appeared before her, having proposed and been accepted by letter, she frankly told him that although she married him, she was not in love with him. Their marriage was long and happy, and the loss of his wife was a blow which Greeley did not long survive.
